

SKIN-N-TAN

What is Skin-N-Tan?

Skin-N-Tan is a service that The Wildlife Gallery has developed to offer a combination of both skinning and wet tan at a discounted rate.

In what locations is the Skin-N-Tan service available?

Skins are now being received at our Texas location only.

How should I send my skins for Skin-N-Tan?

Your skins should be sent or delivered fresh or frozen. We will skin them and wet tan them.

What species does this price apply to?

See pricelist for list of species.

When I get my skin back what do I need to do to mount it?

It will be shipped frozen. Simply thaw, wash in a mild detergent (optional), rinse, and mount. No re-hydration, no fuss!

What is a Wet Tan?

Wet tans are very popular with many taxidermists. The wet tan is not run through the drying and stretching process. This saves some of the epidermal loss, whisker damage, or unseen scar damage that can occur in the drying and cleaning process. The wet tan also saves a taxidermist the re-hydrating process necessary on dry tanned skins. The wet tans will however occupy a lot of freezer space. Wet tanning is not recommended for animals such as bear, bison, or many of the fur bearers and woolly animals, as they are cleaned and groomed throughout the drying process.
